5 MONTHS PROGRAM FOR NAVY

tions in Narragansett Bay.

The active flotilla will hold target practice in Narragansett Bay from September 1 to November 1. The reserve destroyer flotilla will continue on neutrality, aviation and naval militia duty.

From July 1 to August 30, summer exercises will be held from the base at New London, during which torpedo practice, quarterly engineering runs and oscillator tests will be held.

The cruiser squadron of the Atlantic fleet will continue police and patrol duty and will join in the fleet operations and hold target practice as opportunity presents.

No schedule of ducking and overhauling is prescribed by the Navy Department because of the uncertainty of their periods of service.

ELOQUENT SERMON IS DELIVERED

vergent, but antagonistic views make good bed-fellows in his brain. So immeasurably broad that he is infinitely thin; so vastly liberal that he is invisible; so accommodatingly flexible that he is a colossal farce. And the narrow man whom he ridicules? He is the man with sane convictions on Scripture truth; whose life rule is to please God; who will follow truth whether it be popular or not. Firm and erect, with earnest brain, pure heart, untrammelled by prejudice, fixed on principle, he stands like a rock, wind-swept and wavelashed, yet immovable because imbedded in the very laws of God. Jesus was narrow—broad in sympathy for men, but narrow as a razor's edge in obedience to the Father. He refused to be tempted from a straight line of duty. Seek His company and you will be on the road to ultimate satisfaction.

"But this road leads through service, unselfish, word-helping, Christ-honoring, humanity-uplifting. The selfish is the wrecked life. Selfishness is always suicidal. In the loom of life you are weaving a royal robe or a gown of leaden gray. Lay your thread according to the great Designer's chart, work it out in deeds of love, color with the red blood of human kindness and you will produce a pattern worthy of being worn by kings, counselors or angels. It is low aim that is crime.

"What, now, if the life be the opposite? Like Jerusalem of old, with one heart-breaking cry after another coming up from the stricken people who missed the ideals for their lives and made shipwreck of their opportunities, you will some day call in vain for the restoration of your noblest powers and a second offering of your lost opportunities.

"Real value must be measured in scales more delicate than those used in trade today. On the map of the world, Judea can be covered with the thumb, and Athens with the tip of a finger, but after two thousand years they dictate the thought and action of every civilized man on the globe. A map is a mirage, for the success of a nation is not measured by the area of its subjugated provinces, but by its contribution to the thought, moral energy, intellectual happiness, spiritual hope, and consolation of the race. I stand entranced in contemplation of the fetterless freedom born of thought out of the liberty and prospect of the golden age; appalled by its dangers; fascinated by its tremendous possibilities.

Two questions are forcing themselves to the front in the modern world; one is a question of power, and the other is of the right use of power. The realms of government, mechanics, education and religion must grapple with these questions. The circle of man's power widens with every mastery of new power, whether it be a successful experiment in a new invention or discovery, or a new idea or theory that proves itself.

"Education gives power, but fails often to give power over power. That is teach right use of power. Education may give edge and temper to the mind but unless accompanied with a knowledge of how to use it will result as disastrously for its owner as a razor in the hands of an ape. Intellect without moral sense is devilish; mental power without moral balance is satanic. If there was ever a time when practical ethics should be taught in our schools it is now. Religion and education do not fill different alcoves in our nature or character. They cannot be driven tandem, but must go abreast. Religion and morals must invade and invest every fibre of our social fabric. I pray you, young people, in your brave and honest thinking, look with friendly eyes upon the mighty faith whose breath has been the healing of the nations.

Surely no man can fail to come with reverence to examine the faith on which the centuries have rested. Surely no man who has had a home can tread rudely around the old Bible. Two things should be sacred to the trend of your thoughts: Our country and our God.

"Truth will triumph as it always has, and the church of God will live. For eighteen hundred years men have said it was waning and would die. The heathen massacred its defenders and pillaged its temples. Nero and Caligula drenched it in blood. Tom Paine and Voltaire sent the shafts of their impotent ridicule against it. The high priest of infidelity has mocked it. The rhetorical eagle has beaked its impotent protest against its granite side. The scientist has turned the searchlight of his thought and investigation on it. And today while a thousand voices beat the air like mocking cymbals and read reason with entrancing sophistries, firm and steady as on the day the Great Commander first gave the order, the Church of Jesus Christ, militant and glorious, marches down the battered centuries, shouting, 'Hallelujah! the Lord God omnipotent reigneth!'

"Young people, behind you whispers a rich and glorious past; before you stretches a bright and marvelous future. The past is hallowed. It comes to me like a strange romance, like a fiery tale of proud knights. But when I turn to the future that land which time gives no boundaries, what shall I say? That immortals shall inherit it? What deeds of heroism shall owed its pages? What realms of power shall be discovered and entered? In this future no period shall punctuate a life or write 'finis' at its close. I call for a life without a period, a career of uninterrupted piety, one long, continuous, rhythmic sentence of grace finally swelling into a song of glory. Have you begun that life? Will you not say, 'My soul, I dedicate thee to what is truest, loveliest, and best for time and eternity.' 'Onward and upward, your motto forever?'

GET RID OF SCROFULA HOW? TAKE S. S. S.

Fifty Years' Use Proves S. S. S. Will Relieve Stubborn Cases.

You have noticed the little festering pimples on the face and body—swelling of the glands—soreness in the legs and arm muscles. These are the symptoms of Scrofula. You may have some of these symptoms, possibly the taint of Scrofula infection. But in either case, it is a dangerous condition. Your blood is infected, impure, and you can never hope to gain perfect health until the impurities are washed from the system. If you feel badly all the time, you must crave health. If you want to feel renewed spirits, the glow of perfect health, bright eyes, clear skin, the knowledge that you are well, you can do so. Cleanse your blood by taking S. S. S. For fifty years it has been the standard blood purifier. It relieves the trouble by renewing the blood, removing its strength, and stimulating the flow so that the blood regains its lost vitality, and throws off the poison. Even long-standing cases respond. But you must use S. S. S. Take it for all blood infections. Get it at your druggist's today.
